U. S. SHIP SAVES 209 IN SEA FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18 (INS)—Two hundred and nine persons were saved and three were lost at sea today when an explosion in the Chilean nitrate cargo of the Japanese line Bokuyo Maru wreck and sank the ship 1000 miles east of Yokohama, the Marine Exchange reported.

The oil tanker Associated picked up all but three of the 212 persons who fled the Japanese vessel before it was enveloped in flames and sank, the Marine Exchange reported.

It was not immediately determined how many of the 212 were passengers of the Bokuyo Maru, which sailed from San Pedro, Cal., July 2, en route to its home port with a cargo of Chilean nitrate from Valparaiso.

Officials o. the NYK Line, owners of the liner, were checking the passenger list at San Pedro.

U. S. Tanker First Rescue Ship There

TOKYO, July 18 (AP)—The American tanker Associated radioed tonight that she had reached the 8619-ton Japanese liner Bokuyo Maru, afire 1125 miles east of Yokohama, and steamship company officials expressed hope for the rescue of all aboard. They said crew and passengers totalled 212.

The brief message received here from the Associated, 8400-ton vessel owned by the Tide Water Associated Oil Company, gave no details of rescue operations. Four Japanese vessels were hurrying to the scene.

The 445-foot freighter sent out SOS calls for five minutes, then the signals were cut off, indicating the fire, which evidently started among the nitrates, may have disabled the radio.

It was reported the Bokuyo Maru carried no Americans.

Funny to Pelt Cop With Eggs—Jail Isn't

SPRINGFIELD, July 18 (AP)—Judge W. J. Granfield told his smiling courtroom today that pelting a cop with over-ripe eggs wasn't funny, and Nick Pieggia and Michael J. Ligarski agreed after being sentenced to 30 days each for the offense.

Their counsel argued that since only one egg found its intended mark, only one thrower could be held guilty. He contended it was up to the authorities to decide. Judge Granfield disagreed. Pieggia appealed.

BOY LOST ON MAINE MOUNTAIN

MILLINOCKET, Me., July 18 (AP)—Believed to be lost somewhere on the rocky slopes of Mt. Katahdin, Maine's highest peak, Donald Findler, 12-year-old camper of Rye, N. Y., was sought today by a large posse of woodsmen, guides and local and state police.

When the boy failed to return with a group of other mountain climbers camped at Baxter state park late yesterday afternoon, a searching party was organized but was unsuccessful in finding the boy along the hunt trail, which the climbers had followed.

Natives expressed fear the boy may have slipped from one of the precipitous slopes along the trail and fallen into a ravine.

Stock Upswing Runs Into Snag

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Wall Street's sudden buying flush cooled off today after many stocks had stretched previous sharp gains $1 to about $4.

Advances were whittled as traders cashed profits and some issues sold under yesterday's closing prices. Dealings quieted following heavy early trading.

$5000 Fines to Face Pardon Racketeers

Those who pay for pardons—wives, sweethearts, or friends—or those who solicit money to obtain executive clemency through political "pull" or other means will be subjected to fines of $5000, or two years in prison, or both, under the terms of drastic legislation submitted today to end the pardons racket.

Thus, by the fixing of specific and drastic penalties, does the special legislative commission investigating pardons rope to end abuses of the system, operation of which has caused innumerable scandals.

DRASTIC CHANGES

Other suggested changes include the following:

Complete and pitiless publicity on all petitions for pardons.

Compulsory notification to all prosecuting officers on all pending pardon petitions.

All lawyers engaged in aiding prisoners to obtain pardons will have to file certificates of service with the secretary of state.

The governor and the executive council will be empowered to revoke any pardons obtained through frauds in statements or by misrepresentations.

Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware, secretary of the commission, who filed its recommendations, stated the charges were intended to "put a halter on unscrupulous lawyers and politicians" who have "extorted money by preying upon the emotions of mothers, wives and sweethearts of prisoners."

Representative Sawyer added:

"We found that the pardon racket has grown because of loose methods of proceedure, and the possibility of working in secret."

The commission, which had heard many witnesses and may submit its finding to a grand jury, has asked for $10,000 to continue its inquiry. A vote on the additional appropriation was expected today.

F. D. INVITES G. O. P. FOES TO CONFER ON NEUTRALITY

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—An extraordinary night conference in the White House was arranged by administration Senate leaders today, apparently for the purpose of weighing finally the chances for neutrality revision this session.

The meeting (at 8:30 p. m.), it was authoritatively reported, will include President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull, Senate Democratic leader Barkley, Chairman Pittman (D.) of Nevada, of the Senate foreign relations committee and three Senate Republicans, Minority Leader McNary of Oregon, Borah of Idaho and Austin of Vermont.

Subsequently, Barkley said that Vice-President Garner had been invited to attend.

HINT AT COMPROMISE

Disclosure of the conference plan immediately stirred speculation on whether the White House might entertain thoughts of compromise, especially if leaders of both parties carried word that predominant Senate sentiment favored postponement.

On this point Stephen T. Early, President Roosevelt's press secretary, told reporters:

"I can say only that he (the President) is entirely behind and fully supporting Hull's proposals."

The Secretary of State has advocated a neutrality program which provides for repeal of the arms embargo clause of the present law. Most opposition has been directed against this provision.

Early told reporters that Barkley advised Mr. Roosevelt by telephone last night that he had found Democrats and Republicans agreeable to Barkley's proposal "for them to come to the White House and have a conference with the President on the subject of neutrality."

Early said Mr. Roosevelt had not issued any invitation for the meeting.

Senator Austin said it was his understanding that the President and Hull wished to learn the individual views of the members on efforts of the administration to obtain revision of the neutrality law before adjournment.

Borah was the only member of the group who voted will. the majority of the foreign relations committee to postpone action until next session.

Three possible methods of reviving the controversal neutrality bill were under scrutiny by the administration's congressional leaders.

Barkley said that these were:

1—The Senate must be asked to discharge the foreign relations committee from further responsibility for the bill, which then would go directly to the floor for debate.

2—The legislation might be attached to some other pending bill as a "rider."

3—Some member of the foreign relations committee might be won over to the administration viewpoint, thereby reversing the 12-11 vote by which the committee recently shelved neutrality legislation until the next session.

"We have not given up," Barkley

PROBE 3 MERCY PLANE DEATHS

WOODS HOLE, July 18—Three Coast Guard officers opened an inquiry here today into the crash of a Coast Guard "mercy" plane last Saturday in which three men were killed.

The court of inquiry was headed by Lieut. Commander William J. Kossler, Bristol, Pa., Lt. Richard L. Durke, Cape May, N. J., and Lt. Julius F. Jacot, New York City, who flew here from New York. They planned to question crew members of the ketch Atlantis, who witnessed the crash.

Captain Frederick S. McMurray, master of the Atlantis, said he thought a gas explosion aboard the big hydroplane resulted in three men being "blown to atoms" soon after the plane had taken aboard a sick man from his ship several miles southeast of New York.

The Atlantis, a 148-foot auxiliary ketch, is engaged in oceanographic surveys and is scheduled to leave port Thursday.

The V-164, especially equipped for hospital and rescue work, was an eight-ton, two-motored bi-plane, of a type which had been used in numerous Coast Guard rescues. Today, a sister-ship, the V-166, was hauled out of her hangar at Floyd Bennett Field and placed "on the line," so that the probers might study the positions in which the crew of seven and the sick man, George R. Priest, were seated when the crash occurred.

MARION DANIELS
Turns Down Hitler's Second Bid in Two Days

SECOND U.S. GIRL SNUBS HITLER BID

PARIS, July 18—Hitler's liking for the lithesome curves of young American dancers has been flouted for the second time in two days with the announcement here by Marion Daniels, San Francisco dancer, that she, too, turned down a bid to fly to Munich at Der Fuehrer's bidding to appear in "The Merry Widow."

As in the case of Miriam Verne, Pittsburgh, it was stated that prior contracts precluded the possibility of Miss Daniels heeding the call to Munich. She is engaged in appearance in Paris' more soigne cafes.

Miss Verne stated that she was busy in San Remo, Italy, where she has been appearing at the Municipal Auditorium, and that after her engagement there ended, she is going to Belgium. She added, however, that she hoped to get to Germany after Brussels.

Miss Daniels announced flatly that any chance of her appearing in Germany was "out."

Both young women appeared before Hitler upon previous occasions, and in each instance were guests of Der Fuehrer after the performance. Miss Verne denied emphatically that she and Hitler were together anywhere except with large parties of friends.

Beauty Fails to Find Any 'Perils' in N. Y.

NEW YORK, July 18—Unheedful of Governor Luren D. Dickinson's warning to American womanhood, winsome, red-headed Miss Willo Sheridan, 23, of Detroit, awoke with what she thought might be "just a teeny hangover" today after her first encounter with what the governor described as the perils of New York "high life."

Miss Sheridan said she went to the Cotton Club last night and had "two Scotches" and smoked a cigarette.

"And I'm afraid," she said sleepily, "that I may have just a teeny hangover."

She was photographed at a bar with a background of whiskey bottles which may be a rude shock to Governor Dickinson, who himself appointed her "Miss Michigan Aviation" to represent the state's aircraft industry at the New York World's Fair.

Miss Sheridan says as far as drinking is concerned, she knows "when to stop." Furthermore, she smiled, many Michigan mothers and their daughters drink and Lansing, the state capital, cannot be strictly classified as a place for a dull time.

Miss Sheridan is a member of the Calvary Presbyterian Church in Detroit, she added by way of emphasis.

HAVE OWN OPINIONS

"Governor Dickinson is really all right," she explained. "He has his opinions and, of course, I have mine."

Miss Sheridan said she knew the 80-year-old governor of her state slightly, having met him once at "a very dignified party."

"I'm going to see as many night clubs as I can while I'm here," she went on, "and if the governor wants a detailed account of what I have been doing I'll give it to him."

She added that she thought she was in "safe hands" for her night club excursions, and described herself as "a General Motors girl" who works in the photographic department of the company.

Miss Sheridan said she hadn't noticed any of the dangers which Michigan's chief executive had described as bringing unprotected girls in proximity to a "hellish brink."

At first, the Governor's warning about the perils of New York "scared me to death," said Willo.

"I think I'll go on with my special investigation tour to find out if it really is as bad as he claims," she added.

"I like fun and adventure," she said, "and I intend to get it while I am here."

Governor Dickinson wrote a brief formal letter to Grover Whalen, president of the Fair, introducing Miss Sheridan:

"In behalf of the aircraft industry in this State."

His criticism of New York was made after attending the recent conference of governors here.

4th Divorce Asked By Fahrney Heiress

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Merry Fahrney, Chicago patent medicine heiress, disclosed today she has capped her string of four matrimonial ventures with another suit for divorce.

Asserting she was "very angry" at husband No. 4, Count Oleg Cassini, for hinting she had a new romance in mind, the blonde-curled countess said the divorce action was filed through her attorney yesterday and that she would have "plenty to say" in court.

"When the count says I have other marriage plans, it is simply ridiculous," she said heatedly.

MYSTERY TO COUNT

Count Cassini said he was "agreeable" to a divorce but mystified as to the grounds on which she would seek it.

"I don't understand it, inasmuch as infidelity is the only grounds for divorce in New York state," he said.

The countess in a separate interview retorted:

"I realize very well infidelity is the only grounds for divorce in New York state—and that's what it is."

Earlier, the countess' mother-in-law had discussed the split with the comment:

"I'm afraid it's true."

MARRIED 10 MONTHS

She referred all details to her darkly handsome young son, who began the day with a "Please do not disturb" sign on his hotel room door.

The mother said she had not "the faintest idea" where Merry was staying.

Count Oleg, whose brother, Count Igor, a Washington newspaper gossip columnist, was tarred and feathered in Warrenton, Va., recently, married the Chicago heiress 10 months ago at Elkton, Md.

BRIDE, 16, DRIES TEARS; HAPPY WITH MATE, 60

NEW YORK, July 18 (INS)—As neighborhood indignation in "Little Italy" subsided, 60-year-old Carmelo Lacapria and his 16-year-old schoolgirl bride, Parsilla, began making honeymoon plans today while enjoying their first marital bliss in their glittering apartment in a tenement.

Parsilla, completely recovered from the siege of weeping which overcame her when the naturally vocal residents of the neighborhood surrounded the Lacapria apartment and shouted threats amid a rock barrage, was aglow with happiness.

"We will go to Italy in May on a honeymoon," said Lacapria. "Ah, Italy is wonderful in the spring," he added with ardor.

Looking back upon a day of confusion which was punctuated by three riot calls for the police, Parsilla said:

"Everything is fine now."

"There was so much fighting and screaming, I wanted to go home to my father," the seventh-grade schoolgirl added. "But, everything is fine, now. Carmelo is good to me—gives me everything. Now, I want to be a good wife."

The wedding feast, postponed because of the neighborhood ruction, will be given tonight in the gold and marble livingroom with damask paneled walls which Lacapria, a well-to-do property owner, imported from Italy.

PHONE COMPANY'S STORM BILL CITED TO AID CALLAHAN

Costs of repair and rehabilitation work done by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company after last September's hurricane and flood totaled $8,000,000 and were "far in excess" of what the same work would cost under normal conditions, Callahan ouster hearing witnesses testified today.

Figures they submitted under questioning before Governor Saltonstall were offered in general collaboration of defense claims of Public Works Commissioner William F. Callahan, now in the second week of his public fight to retain his job.

John G. Daley of Newton, the New England Telephone Company's general plant manager, testified that emergency nature of the work done after the double disaster of last fall resulted in costly shortage of men and material.

TELLS OF ADDED COSTS

He said telephone repair men were brought to Massachusetts from areas as far west as Nebraska and as far south as West Virginia.

Attorney John L. Murphy, Callahan's brother-in-law and legal counsel, asked Daley:

"Did you find there was a vast difference in labor, material and equipment for the reparation work as compared with that for jobs prior to the hurricane?"

"Oh, yes," Daley testified.

Attorney Murphy then asked:

"And if some of the N. E. T. & T. stockholders criticised the company for paying the increased cost for the repair work, would you consider that fair criticism?"

"I should say not," Daley answered.

Cross-examining Daley, Attorney Charles B. Rugg sought to show that a contracting firm which got $11 an hour from the state for seven men and a truck engaged in tree removal work charged the telephone company only $7.70 an hour for the same crew on a similar job.

Daley furnished the $7.70 figure from his records. Attorney Rugg then referred to past testimony of another witness for the $11-per-hour figure paid by the state.

Earlier, Chief Engineer George A. Manson of the New England Telephone Company testified hurricane repair work was done with emphasis on "speed, first, last and always."

SPEED COMES FIRST

Had there been a choice between speedy methods and economical methods, the former would have been adopted, Manson said.

Attorney Murphy asked him:

"Would it be natural and human (in the hurry of restoring service) that some mistakes would be made?"

"There's no doubt of that," the witness testified.

Public Works Commissioner Callahan, himself a witness previously, had denied "squandering" state funds, as was charged against him in the second of 14 ouster counts.

NEW WPA CUT HITS 170 HERE

Pickets in Rhode Island and strikers in Massachusetts today had but defeat to show for their protest and challenge to WPA wage and hour cuts.

All was quiet on the battle front at Saylesville, R. I., following a Superior Court order restraining officers of the WPA union from picketing the home of Congressman Charles F. Risk.

The congressman was back in Washington after a two-day battle to sustain his right to vote as he wished on WPA cuts. Judge Charles A. Walsh of Providence issued the order, which calls for hearing July 26 on the congressman's contention that the union has no lawful cause to bother him or his family.

In Massachusetts, the strike against WPA reductions was crippled when 102 of 370 strikers throughout the state were dropped from the rolls with expiration of the five-day deadline ordered from Washington.

Boston's 38 strikers, all hoisting engineers on the Huntington avenue subway project, were dropped, but Colonel Thomas F. Sullivan, Boston WPA head, indicated they will be given a chance to reinstate themselves.

Snow loaders were still being used to move dirt on the project, in lieu of cranes and power shovels formerly operated by the strikers.

In Fall River, 12 of 18 men who quit a job returned to work. Authorities were notified the other six had found private employment.

At the same time, Federal authorities ordered discharge in Boston of 110 men and 60 women instructors on the city's 70 playgrounds. The group, ordered to quit July 31, were among 21,270 persons in Massachusetts who are scheduled to lose their jobs because they have held them more than 18 months.

It is expected that 200 to 300 more will get notices today, with the number dropped increasing rapidly each day.

Diver Finds Squalus Lies On Even Keel

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 18 (AP) — The disabled submarine Squalus, in which 26 men died, was found to be resting on the bottom on an almost even keel today when a diver made the first descent since the undersea craft tore away from its lifting pontoons last Thursday.

The diver reported the submarine had only a slight list to port. A tangle of lines about the Squalus' deck prevented him making a complete inspection, pending which plans for a new salvage attempt cannot be made.

Divers had asked permission to descend to the Squalus ever since the effort to raise her failed, but until today, after some of the tangled lines and hoses had been cleared away, superior officers considered a descent too hazardous.

Visibility at the salvage scene, where the water is 240 feet deep, was very poor.

Wagon Driver Hurt in Crash

Thrown between his plunging horses when the wagon he was driving was struck in the rear by an automobile, John Leary, 50, of Dayton street, West Quincy, suffered a broken right shoulder and other injuries today.

The accident took place at Canal street and the Southern artery. The automobile, driven, police say, by Frank Sheff, Fernboro road, Roxbury, struck the rear of the wagon and frightened the horses, which jumped forward.

Leary held onto the reins and was dragged about fifty feet. The horses were stopped about a quarter of a mile away.

Palestine Jews On Protest Strike

JERUSALEM, July 18 (AP) — Jews throughout Palestine, in protest against Britain's six-month ban on Jewish immigration into the Holy Land, began a 10-hour strike today. At 2 p. m. (9 a. m. Boston time) they closed their shops and shuttered their windows.

Only a few Jews holding special passes from their local committees appeared on Jerusalem streets. Mobile police took special precautions in the city.

Nab Phone Box Thief Suspect

Scores and perhaps hundreds of telephone coin box robberies were believed solved today when Back Bay police nabbed a 42-year-old South End man as he was allegedly fleeing from a Beacon street restaurant.

The suspect confessed he had been robbing telephone pay stations for years and "couldn't remember" how many successful coin box breaks he had accomplished, police said.

They took him on a tour of downtown sections of the city, hopeful he might clear up many of the 500 pay station robberies listed by the telephone company since 1933.

Watch That Frown For Candid Camera Is Out to Get You!

If you're in the habit of tramping the streets with a set frown on your face, you'd better read this, so you'll know—

That, starting today, a crew of candid camera photographers is roaming the walled canyons of Boston's downtown district, seeking whom the lenses may devour, and it may be you.

That, furthermore, those whose pictures are taken are likely to find them in the Candid Camera Cavalcade in the Boston Evening American, the Boston Record, or the Boston Sunday Advertiser any day starting next Sunday.

A few of the pictures will be published each day, and if your likeness appears, you will receive a handsome sepia seven by nine inch enlargement of the original print.

You'll know the Candid Camera Man by the insignia on his cap—but you may not see him until after he's recorded what you look like; in your unguarded moments, for posterity and the readers of the American, Record and Sunday Advertiser.

After he snaps you, he will hand you a card telling you all about it, and from then on—watch for your picture in the paper.

The poet wished "the gods the giftie'd gie us to see oursel's as others see us"—and you're going to see just that.

Watch for pictures of yourself and your friends in the Candid Camera Cavalcade beginning next Sunday, and continuing each day thereafter.

And watch for further announcements about this unusual feature.

Launch Big Ship At Fore River

Before a cheering crowd of more than 4000 persons, the S. S. Exporter—first of four ultra-modern express freight and passenger vessels ordered from the Fore River shipyards by the American Export Line—was launched today.

The new freighter was christened by Miss Marilyn Slater, Upper Montclair, N. J. She is the daughter of Executive Vice-President John D. Slater of the American Export line.

The S. S. Exporter's keel was laid at Fore River only last November. She is expected to be ready for delivery by September 1.

She is 473 feet long with a 66-foot beam and 14,450 gross tonnage. She will have a cruising speed of 16½ knots.

Mayor Burgin of Quincy and other officials of city and state were present at the launching.

M'NUTT TO 'SELL' F.D. AS 3 TERMER

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 18 (INS)—Capitol Hill politicos today heard Paul V. McNutt, newly-named federal security administrator, has been commissioned by the New Deal to sell the American people a third term for President Roosevelt.

The silver-haired McNutt, after organizing his new federal agency, it is reported, will turn its administration over to Wayne Coy, his former secretary, and devote himself to the third term pro-convention campaign.

McNUTT KEY MAN

Friends say McNutt incidentally will have a wide-open opportunity to get himself for the second place nomination on a third term ticket, or if the President at the last moment decides to retire to private life, win the big nomination himself.

One New Dealer awaits the President personally chose McNutt for this role. Another says Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins sold the idea to Mr. Roosevelt after the President personally picked McNutt for the security post.

SEE FARLEY DISCREDITED

Insiders say, in either event, the President is willing to entrust McNutt with the third term campaign, having turned his back definitely and finally on Postmaster-General and Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley.

They say the President doubts Farley's enthusasm for a third term and point out Mr. Roosevelt never asked the postmaster-general a single question about the latter's recent "political-check" tour of the nation.

New Deal "leftwingers," who were outraged by McNutt's appointment as security administrator, are now reconciled to it. They envision McNutt as an ace to their current campaign to purge Farley from the cabinet.

Lynn Storeman Held In Mystery Shooting

Accused of shooting a 14-year-old boy in the arm with a pistol early today, Antonia Capano, a Lynn fruit store owner, was arraigned in Lynn district court and held in $1000 bail until July 25 on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Capano was arrested after police investigation of a mysterious shooting in which Anthony Perraco was wounded while walking on Broad street. In Capano's home police said they found a pistol with two chambers discharged.

Old Colony Protest Parley Next Monday

Town officials, state senators and representatives of all communities effected by the proposed abandonment of passenger service throughout southeastern Massachusetts by the Old Colony lines Sept. 24 have been invited to attend a protest meeting next Monday at the State House.

Assistant Attorney General Edward A. Pecce, in charge of the state's opposition to the proposed move, sent letters of invitation out today after approval by Attorney General Paul A. Dever.

The meeting is called for 11 o'clock in room 370 of the State House.

FORMAL INVITATION

The letter of invitation follows, in part:

"Trustees of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad have served notice of their intention to abandon local passenger service in Southeastern Massachusetts on Sept. 24, 1939. The residents of the territory which you represent will be effected by the proposed curtailment of service.

"For the purpose of safe-guarding the interest of the public in the proposed curtailment a hearing will be held in room 370 of the State House in Boston at 11 o'clock in the morning of Monday, July 24.

"It is hoped that the public officials of the territory affected by the proposed curtailment will attend that hearing and will cooperate in devising a plan by which the present passenger service may be retained."

DRAW UP PROTEST

It was stated that the principal business of the meeting will be the drafting of a formal protest, to be filed before the State Board of Public Utilities. In that all of the lines effected are within the state, it is the Attorney-General's contention that the public utilities board has jurisdiction.

The amendment is being fought on the grounds that the New Haven, operator of the lines, has made false statements of costs and revenues in seeking to make the curtailment stick, and is seeking a subsidy from the towns and territories involved.

The attorney-general further contends that the New Haven is seeking to force the sale at a low price of the Boston & Providence line, which is the right-of-way between Boston and Providence.

Pittsburgh Battles Stockyards Blaze

PITTSBURGH, July 18 (AP)—A spectacular eight-alarm fire which swept the Pittsburgh joint stockyards on a mile-long north side inland today caused damage estimated by Fire Chief Nicholas Phelan at approximately $100,000.

Coney Island, Hot Dogs and All, for Rome

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Benito Mussolini is considering building a duplicate "Coney Island" in Rome.

The Coney Island Chamber of Commerce said it had received two letters from the Italian government, asking for a detailed plan of the beach resort and its amusements—hot dog stands included.

Italian officials explained they wanted a "Coney Island" built on the banks of the Tiber as part of the international 1942 exposition.

2 SAVANTS CALL F. D. 'DICTATOR'

HANOVER, N. H., July 18 (AP)—Two professors from large Eastern colleges made direct attacks upon the New Deal today, with one declaring that some of President Roosevelt's policies mean "dictatorship in the authorative, European sense."

Lt. William Starr Myers, professor of polit at Princeton, in a prepared address opening a three-day conferen e at Dartmouth College, promoted by the Braman fund committee for the defense of the constitution, applied the "dictatorship" term in saying:

"Mr. Roosevelt held it is for the President to make the policies, and for Congress to find the methods to carry out his will.'

"It has shown itself in direct steps toward an authoritarian state," he added. "The TVA plan is pure Socialism. Our present system of taxation and 'relief' is Communistic in part. The New Deal attitude toward business is Fascist."

Walter E. Spahr, professor of economics at New York University, contended in another prepared adress that representative government in this country in the last seven years had become "mere nose counting."

He contended the answer was to turn out all the officeholders "who subscribe to the current characteristic doctrines of government."

Fair to Try Dollar Day

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—The "World of Tomorrow" has decided to try a business stratagem from the World of Today—Dollar Day—to bolster attendance.

New York World's Fair officials announced bargain tickets with a face value of $2.25 would be sold for $1 for this week-end. They will cost children only 50 cents.

The tickets, good either next Saturday or Sunday, provide admission to the Fair, 20 cents' worth of food and entrance into any five of a list of 25 amusement concessions and exhibits.

STEAL $25,000 GEMS

TRACE RAG IN MEXICAN DEATH HOP

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—A spokesman for the air safety board said today a rag had been found in the carburetor air intake of the airplane in which Francisco Sarabia, Mexico's No. 1 airman, fell to his death here June 7.

Carl B. Allen, a member of the board, said an exhaustive inquiry, however, disclosed "absolutely no evidence of sabotage."

Sarabia's death, which occurred soon after he had broken the non-stop flying record from Mexico City to New York, aroused rumors of sabotage in Mexico but the formal investigation was said to have proved the rag could not have been "fixed" so as to stop the carburetor at the crucial time.

Officials were silent regarding newspaper reports that a cleaning rag might accidentally have been left in the plane. The rag apparently had been in the cowling which circles the front end of the motor, just behind the propeller. The air scoop intake for the carburetor has a strong suction when the motor is running.

ROBERT BURGUNDER
Must Die in Murder

Gas Chamber For Youth Who Slew 2

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 18 (AP)—Death in the state's lethal gas chamber was decreed Robert Burgunder, 22-year-old college sophomore, today by a jury which convicted him of killing Jack Peterson, Phoenix automobile salesman.

The youth's father, former Seattle prosecutor, had pleaded as head of defense counsel for a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity and attempted to shoulder the blame as a "neglectful" and "ignorant" parent.

Peterson was one of two salesmen lured to death in the desert under the pretext that a customer wanted a car demonstrated. Burgunder, who previously had served a reformatory term, fled the scene and was captured in Tennessee.

His divorced parents both came to his defense, describing him as a youth with a gambling mania.

His mother said she was to blame for his mental condition the day of the slayings, having chided him in a letter without knowing he was brooding over gambling losses.

Burgunder heard the verdict without emotion.

His mother, Mrs. Ruth Burgunder, Alhambra, Cal., appeared deeply shocked.

After hearing the verdict, young Burgunder turned around and held his mother's hand momentarily.

City's Expenses Show Increase

Although Boston taxpayers had been promised savings of $500,000 during 1939, the city totaled up its half-yearly accounts today to find that it has spent $8629 more during the first six months of the year than it did during the same period in 1938.

Blame for the increased expenditure was ascribed to WPA and PWA layoffs, and in part to Dame Nature.

Welfare costs increased from $6,083,361 for the first six months of 1938 to $6,297,394 for the same period this year, while snow removal costs were increased $206,172 by a hard winter.

While the city may have to borrow $1,000,000 to guarantee welfare payments, City Auditor Charles J. Fox said the city debt has been lowered from $132,990,717 to $124,791,189, doubling the city capacity to borrow.

Tatsch, Noted Mason, Dies on Visit to London

Death in London of Jacob Hugo Tatsch, long a leader of Freemasonry in Boston, and internationally known Masonic writer and historian, was announced here today.

Tatsch, whose home was in Beacon street, Brookline, collapsed as he was proposing a toast at the Authors' Lodge, and died a short time later of a heart attack. He was 51.

He also ranked high in the Army Reserve Officers' Corps and was in London as American delegate to the installation tomorrow of the Duke of Kent as Grand Master of English Freemasonry.

Born in Milwaukee in 1888, Tatsch began his career as a banker, and at various times served as an officer of banks in Spokane, Wash., New York, Boston and Los Angeles. In 1919 he was associated with the foreign department of the First National Bank here.

Author of many works on Masonic history and literature, Tatsch was librarian of the Grand Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Massachusetts and member of the supreme council. He was a 33rd degree Mason and had been decorated by several foreign governments for his services to Freemasonry.

He was also director of education of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Massachusetts.

Publisher as well as author, Tatsch was president of the Glastonbury Press in Brookline. His published works included "Short Readings in Masonic History," "Highlights of Crescent History," "Freemasonry in the Thirteen Colonies," "The Facts About George Washington as a Freemason" and "Lodge Officers' Speech Book."

Tatsch served in the Intelligence Department of the Army during the World War, and after the war kept up his interest in military affairs.

His wife, the former Harriet Hughes of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and a son survive him. Mrs. Tatsch is living at the Beacon street home.

DANZIG LEADERS PONDER 'REUNION'

By the Associated Press

A pair of chronic trouble spots on opposite sides of the world caused new concern today.

The free city of Danzig was watched closely as leaders of the Nazified Danzig government met to discuss the next steps to bring about reunion with Germany. The meeting was called a few hours after Nazi Leader Albert Forster returned from long talks with Adolf Hitler.

In Berlin a government spokesman said that German officials believed the Danzig question was "steering in the direction of a peaceable solution."

He added, "We are very optimistic," but he failed to deny the suggestion that "solution" could mean only incorporation of Danzig in Germany—Hitler's stated program.

In Tokyo five key cabinet ministers met in emergency session to study a full report of recent Soviet air raids on strategic rail centers in Japanese-protected Manchoukuo.

PROTEST TO MOSCOW

The Japanese government, already taking a grave view of the situation, was asked by the Manchoukuo government to protest directly to Moscow over the raids.

Observers of the Danzig situation expressed concern over movement of 40 military supply trucks seen proceeding along a highway leading into Danzig from East Prussia, driven by men in uniform. Neither the destination of the trucks nor the nature of their cargo was known.

The Danzig issue, particularly the truck movement, disturbed an otherwise calm atmosphere in London. The British, now taking the view that their preparedness measures have reached a "satisfactory state," looked at the immediate future with steadier nerves.

The Daily Express predicted that "there will be no European war involving Britain this year."

BRITISH CHIEF IN POLAND

Britain's preparedness program moved ahead as her inspector-general of overseas forces, Major-General Sir Edmund Ironside, began in Warsaw the task of co-ordinating Polish and British military strength.

In China Japanese naval authorities announced they would close three more south China ports—Santuao, Loyuan and Shacheng—Friday. Neutral ships and nationals were given the customary request that they leave.

BRITISH FLEE KAIFENG

TOKYO, July 18 (AP)—Domei (Japanese News Agency) reported today that all British citizens at Kaifeng, North China, had left there because of the anti-British campaign.

Nazis Invading Danzig

DANZIG, July 18 (INS)—Continued flow of incoming Nazi arms and manpower bolstered a growing belief among Danzigers today that an attempt would be made shortly to join the Free City to the Reich by some formula that might avoid hostilities with Britain.

About 40 huge vans arrived from East Prussia during the night and early morning, uniformed men driving. More than 1000 Hitler youth arrived from Prussia and other points.

Following a conference between Albert Foerster, Nazi Danzig chief, and Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy, reports were current that Free City Nazis intend to issue a decree appealing to Hitler to unite Danzig to Germany.

See for yourself why Jenney Solvenized Gasoline gives you more power and mileage!

BEFORE SOLVENIZING

AFTER SOLVENIZING

Gum and carbon are left over after gasoline is burned. The gum acts as a cement, and builds up hard carbon on valves and piston rings.

This hard carbon makes it impossible for the valves to seat tightly or for the rings to seal tightly. Gasoline vapor leaks past both valves and rings, and is wasted.

Jenney Solvenized Gasoline dissolves gum, the binder of carbon, and lets the softened carbon blow out the exhaust. This lets valves and rings seal tightly again, increases compression, and saves and uses the gasoline which used to leak away.

NOW the full force of the gasoline you buy is used as it should be—naturally you get more power, quicker acceleration, more mileage.

Only Jenney gives you this extra Solvenized value in the gasoline you buy. Use Jenney regularly and save.

ley asserted, "We still are hopeful that something can be done."

Coinciding with his study of possible legislative moves, Barkley approached the Senate Republican leaders with the suggestion that they go over the whole neutrality question at a conference with President Roosevelt and Democratic chieftains.

A Presidential secretary said there were no plans to receive a Congressional delegation, but added that any which made known a wish to come would find the White House door open.

Senator Borah (R) of Idaho conferred yesterday with colleagues opposing the administration neutrality program. He told reporters that all committee members who had voted to shelve the legislation for this session were standing firm.

SILENCE HIDES LOVE IN DIVORCE

While Kenneth Hayes and his socialite bride, Janet Wilson Hayes, were "very happy" at their Concord home, both the former Mrs. Hayes and Benjamin Wilson, first husband of the second Mrs. Hayes, kept sweet silence today.

At Osterville, where she is with her parents, Mrs. Mabel Stimpson Hayes turned away all reporters who sought to question her concerning possibility that she may wed Wilson.

And at Concord, at his Elm street residence not far from the happy home of the present Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hayes, Wilson met all queries with two words:

"No comment."

All parties concerned would verify only that Hayes, prominent industrial real estate expert, married Mrs. Wilson on July 9 at Las Vegas, Nev., the day after she won a divorce in Carson City.

Hayes was divorced on June 30. Both wives charged cruelty.

In each divorce, it was reported, substantial property settlements were made. Hayes did not contest his first wife's suit, but Wilson filed an answer from Boston to the suit his wife filed.

Hayes and his first wife were married in a brilliant social event in 1927, in Boston. The Wilsons were married in Berkeley, Cal., in 1923.

For the past several years the two couples had been close friends, often dining at one another's homes. The husbands played golf together at the Concord Country Club and the wives were seen often together at various affairs.

The filing of Mrs. Hayes' suit came as a distinct shock to their friends. She had established residence at a dude ranch near Reno.

Mrs. Wilson had left for California a short time before this and stayed with her mother there before establishing residence at Glenbrook.

Despite the divorce, Hayes still retains office space in the offices of his former father-in-law.

Hold Youth as Fake Bandit

Identified in Cambridge district court by Betty Kostos 20, of Washington street, Cambridge, as the man who threatened her with a "fake" gun and forced her to hand over $7.95, Henry Gallagher, 20, was held in $3000 bail today for trial July 21 on robbery charges.

Gallagher was captured when Patrolman Joseph Kelly heard screams and saw him running from the Ideal Baker, Pearl street. Kelly chased the youth a quarter of a mile, and subdued him after a brief struggle.

Kelly said Miss Kostos identified Gallagher as the "gunman." The gun, police said, was an automobile door handle.

Mrs. McCormick To Wed Old Love

A late summer wedding will climax the interrupted girlhood romance of Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, widow of the Chicago harvester king, and Marshall Luddington Brown, former Boston bonding company employe, it was revealed today.

Engagement of the wealthy widow, who inherited $1,000,000 and two estates from her husband in 1936, was confirmed today by Mrs. McCormick's sister, Mrs. Edward Mackey of Brookline, who summers at Peterboro, N. H.

Mrs. Mackey said that no definite arrangements had been made for the wedding, but added it was expected to take place later in the summer at Peterboro.

Mrs. McCormick, the former Alice Holt of Chicago, was secretary to the Harvester magnate for many years before their marriage at Dublin, N. H., in 1927. She was McCormick's second wife.

Brown, formerly manager of a department in a Boston bonding firm, now resides at Saranac Lake, N. Y. His family home is in Parkersburg, W. Va. At one time he occupied a swank Beacon Hill apartment.

Senate Reverses Self On Norfolk-Plymouth

In an about-face from previous action, the state Senate today rejected on a rollcall vote of 17 to 14 a bill to give Norfolk and Plymouth counties separate district attorneys.

Already approved by the House, the bill had been given one reading in the Senate. Its sponsors served notice immediately after today's vote they would attempt to revive the measure tomorrow through a move for reconsideration.

Youth 'Prolonged' In 2,000 Test Cases

By G. B. LAL

NEW YORK, July 18 (INS)—Prolongation of youth in aging persons has been successfully achieved in more than two thousand cases, it was learned today from a thesis of "Reactivation of Glands" by Dr. Harry Benjamin, endocrinologist of City College, New York.

Dr. Benjamin, physician of New York and San Francisco, formerly associated with Dr. Eugene Steinach, and one of the and one of the first medical scientists to initiate researches toward the discovery of male (sex) hormones, presented his thesis to the Marin County Medical Society California.

Gertrude Atherton

Among the hundreds of cases, which provided Dr. Benjamin with personal experience in this field, were those of Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, novelist, and several internationally known capitalists.

Dr. Benjamin maintains that the modern methods of the "reactivation of the endocrine glands," which are still in the early stages, can accomplish a great deal towards "the slowing down of the process of aging in human beings."

Medical science already knows, "how to hasten the maturity of a child by treatments with the hormones. I hold that we can also retard the process of senility by similar methods," avers Dr. Benjamin.

Real "rejuvenation," such as the making over of a man of 65 into one of 30 years, is not yet possible for human beings, Dr. Benjamin pointed out. Only in experiments with lower animals have some really startling "rejuvenations" been observed.

Dr. Benjamin explains this viewpoint as follows:

"The aging person begins to disintegrate inside. There is a loss in his or her physical, emotional, imaginative and intellectual vigor and health. Reactivation treatments halt such disintegration of personality, to more or less extent."

By supplying to the body the necessary hormones such as those of gonads, thyroid, anterior pituitary, adrenal cortex, the powers of the human body are again "knitted together and lifted up to energy level," according to Dr. Benjamin.

WATCH PIN'S PATH THROUGH BABY

DOVER, N. H., July 18—While a mother prayed, doctors at Wentworth Hospital today watched by X-ray an open safety pin her baby had swallowed and predicted it would pass without ill effect through the child's system.

Hour after hour, new pictures were taken of the passage of the pin gulped down by three-weeks-old Madeline Aubin of Somersworth.

Slowly, with the point still pointing upward, the pin moved through the alimentary canal and into the baby's intestines.

Dr. Harry O. Chesley, X-ray specialist, expressed the belief nature would complete the job without necessity of an operation.

Mrs. Adelard Aubin, the baby's mother, raced the child to the hospital after she discovered a pin she had left on a tray had been swallowed by the baby.

COMING TO LOEW'S—Bobs Watson and Lionel Barrymore in a touching scene from "On Borrowed Time," coming Thursday to Loew's State and Orpheum

Hollywood Paragraphs

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 18. Maureen O'Sullivan's parents at Ireland will get a chance to see Michael Damien Farrow much sooner than she or they expected.

That is if Maureen can't persuade her director-husband, John Farrow, and he is willing to have her go to Europe within the next three weeks.

Victor Saville is working hard to persuade her to play opposite Robert Montgomery in "Busman's Honeymoon" and if she does she will take the baby with her. An English girl is necessary because of the British quota law and since Montgomery is one of His Majesty's favorites and popular both abroad and here ... [illegible] ... per.

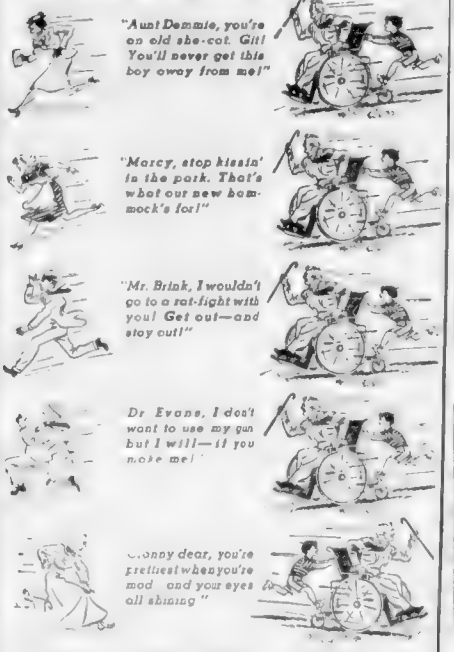
THURSDAY - 2 GREAT HITS!

TREAT YOUR HEART TO A GRAND MOVIE!

Lionel Barrymore in the sort of role that every actor hopes will be written just for himself!



"Aunt Dommie, you're an old she-cat. Girl You'll never get this boy away from me!"
"Marcy, stop kissin' in the park. That's what our new bomsock's for!"
"Mr. Brink, I wouldn't go to a rat-fight with you! Get out—and stay out!"
Dr. Evans, I don't want to use my gun but I will—if you make me!
Sonny dear, you're prettiest when you're mad and your eyes all shining"

THE GREAT STAGE HIT with all its laughter and heart-warming sentiment, with each of its delightful and fascinating characters is at last on the screen in one of the best pictures you have ever seen!

METROPOLITAN BOSTON should embrace more territory, says the Boston Chamber of Commerce's Committee on Commercial and Industrial Affairs in a communication addressed to the United States Census Bureau.

The Committee would add the six towns of North Reading, Wenham, Hamilton, Essex, Ipswich and Hanson to the 30 municipalities already included in the district.

This suggestion is important because it directs attention to the fact that Boston is actually a vastly larger city than popularly [illegible]

Because Somerville, Cambridge, Chelsea and other sections have separate governments, Boston is always represented as a little metropolis with an area of 43.9 square miles.

But the spending of his administration has added a burden of eight hundred and fifteen million, nine hundred and twenty-five thousand, eight hundred and eighty-eight dollars.

Consequently, if every person included in our population of 4,249,614 were required to pay his per capita share of the debt today, each man, woman and child would have to provide the impressive sum of THREE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-TWO DOLLARS.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- MY DAY

HYDE PARK, July 18—I must go back to Friday evening and tell you that I attended the Roosevelt Home Club meeting at our neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Smith. [illegible] room. Though the evening was cool, such a number of people gathered together on a summer's night is bound to create a certain amount of heat.

However, everyone seemed interested and [illegible] Dr. [illegible] [illegible] and I am [illegible] been present for their patience in listening to a [illegible]

YESTERDAY we left home about 10:45 a. m. and motored down the Bronx River Parkway, arguing more or less amicably as to the place where we should turn to find our way to Highbridge, Conn., and thence to Mr. and Mrs. George Bye's place, where we were to be part of a distinguished picnic company.

We arrived in good time, but were told to return another way, which we did gladly because variety is always pleasant and all this country is lovely. Both ways, however, take exactly the same time to drive.

A number of people were already at the Byes when we arrived and others soon gathered. The day was perfect, cool and sunny, and the table which Mrs. Bye had arranged in the shape of an "S" was set down by what I call a brook, though I was gently rebuked and told it was a river. In any case it makes a very pleasant sound as it runs over the stones and adds great attraction to the picnic center.

Many old friends and some new faces were there. Dr. Hendrik Van Loon showed me his new publication, the product of some time spent in Sweden last summer. The story of the Swedish writer of songs and the illustrations are Dr. Van Loon's; the music is by Miss Grace Castagnetta. She played some of the songs for us after lunch and I think the book is one which no household should lack.

WE REACHED home a little before 6:00 o'clock and so had a swim before dinner. The sun was not warm enough to make us want to be around for any length of time so I came in and read on my upstairs porch.

Today is cool and lovely and I have had a ride and we are all, I hope, going to swim and play deck tennis before I go up to lunch with my cousin, Miss Laura Delano, at Rhinebeck. Mrs. Warren Robbins of Washington, D. C., is staying with Miss Delano and some of Mrs. Robbins' children will be there [illegible]

I have made a new discovery. Wednesday morning, while I lay idly looking at a cedar tree which grows near my sleeping porch, I noticed a great commotion near the top and saw a bird fly in and out several times.

Finally I found a nest with several young birds waiting open-beaked for the food to be dropped in. The same commotion went on this morning, but I think they are nearly ready to fly and I will not be able to watch them for long.

The Bumsteads on a Holiday

THE Runaway

by KATHLEEN NORRIS

Gavin and Becky walked across the yard together, their shoulders touching.

to the adventures which he had shared or experienced himself. Adventures in theatricals and movies and radio, adventures on cattle ranches or Canadian hunting trips, adventures with ships and women. He told them

"And now what? What will you do now?"

"Now" he answered his question, "now that I came in my life I want to settle down. I want to get married. You've changed everything. I know how silly that sounds. I know you'll not forget me too soon and I know I'll never forget you. And that's all there is to it."

I'll never forget you. Rebecca spoke slowly, her amber eyes full upon him. Gavin answered her lightly, with a little laugh that showed he was touched and shaken

Is Becky falling too deeply in love with this handsome and romantic stranger? Don't miss this tomorrow.

Cheerful Prospect For Shoe Industry

Optimism on a chief Massachusetts industry is not confined to purely local observations . . . Some of the big statistical services are taking a cheerful view of the shoe industry's prospects over the balance of 1939 . . .

ADVICES . . . Of one leading company, Poor's Stock Reports, foresee further gains augmenting the approximately 1 per cent gain shown in production during the initial five months . . . After noting the steadiness of shoe prices Poor's says there is reason to believe operations have been substantially more profitable than a year ago . . . The report further states that following a seasonal lull production is expected to score a large increase . . . The Boston Shoe Fair, held in June, accounts for a good part of such optimism . . . Since the orders manufacturers then accumulated are said to have been far beyond expectations . . .

DIVERSE . . . Price behavior of leather and hides is also noted by Poor's . . . The former remained steady while the latter advanced . . . Of hides it is said the market is in a strong statistical position . . . The number on hand April 30, the latest total available, was the smallest on record for that date . . . Amounting to only 6.2 months requirements . . . We should think that the considerably less than normal supply augured for a bolder policy of accumulation on the part of manufacturers . . . Especially since they must be deriving considerable moral support from their bulky order backlogs . . .

SIGNIFICANT . . . Changes in buying policies are currently noted by the New England Purchasing Agents Association . . . Who report a noticeable swing to the right . . . The association says finds the twin elements of increased activity and strengthened commodity prices widening the gap between hand to mouth buying and forward purchasing . . . And as the tendency to look further ahead in formulating policies is revealed normal working inventories are holding about the same position . . . With such a trend it is hard to find an excuse for expecting the usual amount of a seasonal contraction . . . And a well sustained New England business trend during the balance of the year is more than fair expectation . . .

SUCCESS . . . Of savings bank insurance as pioneered in Massachusetts is mirrored in current reports from New York state . . . The plan has been in operation there for six months and $4,074,450 is now in force . . . It took the Bay State seven years to reach a comparable total . . . Although it is possible to apply for an individual amount of $3000 bank figures show that 78 per cent of the applications received are for $1000 or less . . . The system savings bank insurance long rated highly by Massachusetts is thus proving worthwhile for the nation's leading financial state . . . Especially in that the small account appears to be the chief beneficiary . . .

Foreign Trade Issue Confused

Foreign trade discussions have recently been so weighted down by emotionalism, political feeling, and resentment over persecution that the subject has become increasingly confused.

Feeling has been focused into the assumption that trading with other nations is a matter of favor to all favors.

The State Department has put the stamp of official approval on this sentiment by setting aside Germany, for example, and withholding from it the tariff concessions granted to other friendly nations under the "unconditional most favored nation" principle.

Likewise, with the prosecution of religious minorities in the Third Reich, there has been a widespread voluntary boycott of German goods in foreign countries. In the circumstances it may be questioned whether the sympathizers with the persecuted had other means of effective self-expression.

But when private emotions, prejudices and political feeling are isolated and the economic problem is studied by itself, the outstanding fact is that bona fide foreign trade is based on an equal exchange. The assumption is that the buyer, as well as the seller, gets a quid pro quo.

In a normal world, in which hoodlums no longer occupy posts in foreign governments, people will trade in foreign countries for the purpose of helping themselves and building up their home economy. They will not be placing or withholding orders for the extraneous purpose of rewarding friends and punishing enemies.

There has long been fuzzy thinking on foreign trade.

The free traders falaciously assumed that living standards and costs were uniform in various countries.

As the realities govern, we in the United States with our superior material well being will feed more and more to relate foreign trade policies to the dominant needs of the home economy.

This will involve a determination that foreign trade will hinge on the swapping of goods (and services) for goods (and services), without confusing the accounts with long-term foreign loans.

We shall take from foreign countries primarily essential raw materials which we lack and need, and also luxury and articles which are in a sense non competitive with home production.

But in taking such goods, we shall be actuated by a sense of enlightened self-interest. We shall be buying for the primary purpose of contributing to the material well-being of our own people.

Stock Leaders Continue to Work Higher

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Stock market leaders followed the recovery route today and advances of fractions to around 6 points were marked up for favored issues.

In the heaviest first hour trading since April 1—840,000 shares changed hands—a number of new highs for the year were set. Profit-taking was well absorbed but slipped slightly under their test.

The extension of yesterday's rally, brokers said, was in response to continued favorable business news and a feeling that Europe's troubles might avoid the crisis point. A favorable factor was the remark of a German government spokesman that officials believed the Danzig question was "steering in the direction of a peaceful settlement."

MORGENTHAU BACKS SPEND-LEND PLAN

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) Secretary Morgenthau praised the President's $2,800,000,000 lending [illegible] as a "real advance toward the goal of bringing our [illegible] expenditures within our receipts."

Testifying before the Senate banking committee, the Treasury head said he liked the idea of lending billions of dollars for self liquidating projects

"It may well turn out to mark a transition point in the public finances," he declared, adding:

"If we can substitute self-liquidating investments in place of outright government expenditures we shall have made a great step toward bridging the gap between revenue and expenditures.

"This distinction between self-liquidating investments and non-recoverable expenditures is not merely a bookkeeping one, but is very soundly based.

"In the case of non-recoverable expenditures the servicing of the debts created to finance them must be met out of general tax revenues. However, in the case of self-liquidating loans such as are proposed in this bill, the interest and amortization payments are met out of the earnings of the investment."

The secretary's formal statement made no mention of the administration's desire to pass the bill at this session instead of waiting until next year as some legislators have proposed, but yesterday he told reporters he favored immediate action.

Morgenthau reviewed major provisions of the bill. These included items which, over the period of a few years, would provide $750,000,000 for highway projects; $350,000,000 for loans to municipalities; $500,000,000 for leasing railroad equipment; $460,000,000 additional for rural electrification projects; $500,000,000 additional loans to farm tenants to enable them to buy their own land, and an additional $100,000,000 for Export-Import Bank credits to finance foreign purchases of American merchandise.

Foreign Exchange Shows Improvement

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Broad improvement in chief European currencies against the dollar—especially the Netherlands guilder contrasted with a fresh break in the Shanghai dollar today.

Money dealers said the comparatively buoyant slant to the market was caused mainly by European news pointing more directly to a possible peaceful settlement of the Danzig question. The Netherlands guilder shot up .18 of a cent, bringing total gains for the past week to nearly ⅛ cent.

Puts Limit On Exchange Board Study

NEW YORK July 18 (AP)—William McC. Martin, Jr., president of the New York Stock Exchange, has sent letters to members of the organization's newly appointed public examining board asking them to confine their studies to those aspects of our business which specifically relate to investor protection," and turn in reports by Sept. 1, if possible.

The board was appointed to weigh feasibility of creation of a "brokerage bank" or some equally adequate substitute to serve as central depositary for [illegible] suggested by SEC Chairman Jerome N. Frank. Previously Martin had told examining board members he was "imposing no limit on the scope of their studies" which led some governors of the exchange to conclude the committee would study other stock exchange problems including the recent [illegible] of business.

AUSTEN LAKE

Newsom Continues To Make Sox Suffer

AUSTEN LAKE

DETROIT, Mich., July 18—There, my friends, was less of a ball game of the accustomed Red Sox standard than something sired by a Swiss clock out of a hashish dream. Duty bids me say that our hitherto unimpeachable heroes twice stumbled over the sinister number 13, failing to stretch their winning streak and losing 13 to 6 to the Detroit Tigers. The Sox' six points were awarded for trying.

That old Red Sox alumnus, Buck Newsom, who both throws and IS a screwball, held our lads in the palm of his capacious paw throughout an afternoon made giddy by the screams of 4000 Boy Scouts. The management invited the kids to bring their fish-horns, fire-sirens and noise machinery and sit, gratis, in the left ear of the outfield.

Their insistent yammer for home runs so frazzeled the ear drums and the hot blast of their breath so fogged Roger Cramer's sun glasses that he was continually taking them off, saying "Ahhhh" on the smoked lenses and polishing them on his sleeve.

So in the third inning with the Sox leading 2 to 1, Roger was taking peep sights through his apecs to make certain the cheaters were at the right degree of clarity for inspecting the heavens when Earl Averill poked a long fly toward the foot of the right field steerage section.

And by the time Roger had finished his optometry the ball had come down somewhere east of Suez and the score was THEM 3, DS 2.

Sagitarius must have been in the descendency today. Nothing went right from the moment Joe Cronin had his liver and lights dashed out by Pinky Higgins. Pinky stubbed his toe while rounding second and in his plunge to get back collided his skull against Joe's chin.

It was a thick skull against an enormous chin so the effect was like an irresistible object meeting an immovable body. They both got K. O'ed. Pinky spraddled to his feet just groggy as a newborn calf, but Joe just lay limp and looking like a candidate for the incurable ward.

[illegible] players of both teams hurried out and circled round while trainer Win Green rushed up his surgical satchel and busted ampules [illegible] Pinky promptly came to. But [illegible] preferred to remain [illegible] the game ended for the next inning the [illegible] everything at Woody Rich, the Sox freshman pitcher [illegible]

[illegible] You Hoped for Hoyng to come and share the pitching [illegible] summoned to a dentist's chair [illegible] the last long fly the next inning. Joe You Hoped again and [illegible] came a novice kid fresh from Little Rock, Chick Sayles by name, and a nice, boy-faced kid was trembling [illegible] nose.

What happened? Why, by way of salutation, Averill kissed him for his second home run and started the fun all over again. To heighten the boy's confusion, Umpire Bill McGowan, an officious little, cockered of a man, strode out and lectured the lad on the proper mound manner—a kind of Emily Post discourse which had to do with the way he missed his feet on the slab.

That had the effect of making Chick foot conscious and instead of taking his full, whole hearted sweep of arm he began throwing up little pudding pitches with a mixture of custard tarts and apple dumplings. It was strictly a pastry diet which the Detroiters went after like a lot of hungry farmhands with napkins round their necks. So presently there were five more runs.

[illegible] Boy Scouts who [illegible] Then the ball game was [illegible] went out down the [illegible] and left the empty levels to a regiment of char women.

From the top of [illegible] press peak, 110 feet high, you couldn't hear Dela wards but from up [illegible]

So Buck stopped amusing himself and began his pretzel contortions all over again, burning the ball over in white blurs and so that's all there was. And last night, by the pale moonlight, the boys took the mid night choo-choo for Chicago, intent on recouping the loss of a full game in the league standing to the Yankees. They had the disquieting outlook of successive Tuesday and Wednesday doubleheaders with Cronin picking his tired pitching out of a grabbag.

Auker Hits Home Run To Tie Score

By JOE CASHMAN

COMISKEY PARK, CHICAGO, July 18—It felt like [illegible] when our Red Sox and Jimmy Dykes' [illegible] White Sox opened a one game series in the first of [illegible] successive double-headers [illegible] this afternoon.

Not only was it unseasonably chilly, but it was dark and foggy and the field was in such wretched [illegible] after a Monday rain that both teams passed up preliminary batting and fielding practice.

Only a handful of fans were present when play began.

Manager Joe Cronin nominated Elden Auker to start the Fenway favorites on another win surge a day after they had a 12-game victory streak snapped in Detroit.

DIZZY DEAN DR. DAVIS

IT WAS LIKE THIS. Dizzy Dean displays arm wound and explains how it happened to Dr. John F. Davis, Cubs' physician on Diz's arrival in Chicago. But nobody believes him.

I Wasn't Drinking Or Fighting--Dean

CHICAGO, July 18 (INS)—The "Dizzy Dean mystery" pictured out today behind the widest grin Ol' Diz could muster and still not stop talking.

The [illegible]-hander of the Chi[illegible] Cubs [illegible] the mystery of his [illegible] left arm as the most [illegible] [illegible] bent of his long and [illegible] career, denying, between [illegible]

1 That his arm was badly cut.

2 That his wife conked him with a lamp during a family argument.

3 That he was "disciplined" by Manager Charley Dressen when he went home to Chicago from New York.

4 That he had been drinking the evening before he was hurt.

5 That he couldn't pitch because of his wound.

Greeting reporters at the home of [illegible]

"Boys, you'll laugh your heads off. This is the silliest thing I ever heard of. Huh! Look at this scratch on my arm.

"Fight? There wasn't any fight. And I wasn't drinking. It happened right in our New York hotel. We went to our room about 1:15 a.m. We were in bed when the phone rang and, like a dummy, instead of turning on the light first, I made a grab for the phone in the dark.

"I knocked over the lamp on the stand between the twin beds. In trying to grab it I scraped my arm against the corner of a glass top on the stand.

"That's all there is to it.

"My brother Paul, who was in town with the Cardinals, was the guy calling. Doggone him."

As to the report Mrs. Dean [illegible] a lamp, Dizzy said:

"She's got better control than that. If she was thrown, it sure would have been a beanball."

Dean's story was partly corroborated by the Cubs' physician, Dr. John F. Davis.

Asked if the wound could have been caused by a glass table top, the doctor said:

"Yes, that's logical. In fact, the cut is so straight that it must have been done by scraping against an immovable object. It couldn't have been something thrown at him."

"How!" bawed Dizzy "Mystery" Dean.

WALTERS' HEAVING KEEPS REDS IN LEAD

Having seen Bucky Walters run his win total to 15 against the Bees, the experts are in general agreement that the best of the many moves Bill McKechnie has made in Cincinnati was acquiring the slim right-hander, the biggest star of the pennant-bound Reds.

Casey Stengel and Coaches George Kelly and Mike Kelly paid tribute to Walters' twirling, admitting him to be every bit what he is today, the top pitcher in either league with 15 wins.

Walters' 4-0 shutout victory did nothing to lift the gloom around N. L. Field for Walters once played third base in Boston for both the Red Sox and Bees and would be quite a fellow to have on either pitching staff today.

McKechnie has got some good hitters and fielders and some fair pitching, but without Walters the Reds probably wouldn't be holding any sort of a lead in the present N. L. race.

CRITICS SWING TO WALTERS

There were critics who predicted at the start of the season that Bob Feller looked like the only pitcher in either circuit with enough to win 30 games, but most of them have now swung over to Walters, who has the equipment needed to become a modern mound rarity—a 30-game winner.

Walters is a swift and tireless worker, with plenty of control and possesses a cast-iron arm which seems to be immune to the numerous ailments of which pitchers complain.

Despite this he had all he could do to conquer the Bees and give the Reds their first win in three starts at N. L. Field in this series especially with Danny MacFayden making him bear down with every thing until the eighth when an error by Rabbit Warstler set the stage for a three-run double by Harry Craft.

Walters was guarding a slim one-run lead until Warstler allowed the Reds to land MacFayden for trouble.

And Warstler, pinch-hitting for Eddie Miller the $50,000 gem, out for the season with a broken left leg, turned out to be something of a "goat" although the Reds' lone earned run in the first probably would have been enough with Walters in charge.

ALIBI FOR WARSTLER

Pinch-hitting for Miller, who has been spectacular, amounts to sending the secretary up to bat for Babe Ruth and two Warstler bobbles thus became glaring. The Rabbit should be excused, however, for he's been away from the shortfield for a long spell, playing third and second most of this season.

Stengel is going to string along with Warstler at short, confident the the veteran can come as close to anyone available to filling Miller's spikes.

THE RABBIT'S TAUNTON DOG FORM

BEST—ROBERT RIPLEY

TAUNTON, July 18—Way down in the tenth race tonight, believe it or not, Robert Ripley looks like the safest possible kind of a wagering hazard. This one has been right there or thereabouts of late, but tonight in my book he looks like the best thing of the meeting

FIRST RACE—FUTURITY
(First Half Daily Double)
MY HARVEST HAND—CHIMNEY TOP—GAYER

PP	Dog	Odds	Wt.	Owner
1	My Harvest H.	3-1	63	Tom Baird
2	Chimney Top	4-1	57	Jess Williams
3	Gayer	4-1	59	F. L. Brunis
4	Understudy	5-1	66	O. Dahlberg
5	[illegible]	6-1	63	Ben Neal, Jr.
6	Pat Isbell	6-1	61½	R. R. Sluis
7	In Tailspin	6-1	64	O. Lippold, Jr.
8	Rio Andrew	8-1	71	Jack Adams

MY HARVEST HAND has the foot of this party and with any sort of break should win. CHIMNEY TOP can be chase, with GAYER a possibility.

SECOND RACE—FUTURITY
(Second Half Daily Double)
PICKET FENCE—CLOSE UP—DOUBLE BACK

8	Picket Fence	4-1	56	G. Lippold, Jr.
1	Close Up	4-1	61½	Richard Rhine
6	Double Back	4-1	67	F. L. Brunis
7	Dash Forbes	5-1	64	M. J. Gavan
5	Back Pasie	8-1	59	M. T. Dubiel
3	Crusader	6-1	67	O. Wahlauf
4	Silverfern	8-1	56	R. Wahlauf
2	Local Chance	6-1	63	Fred Street

PICKET FENCE another of the new pups which has run well enough to be on top in this number. CLOSE UP can make a race of it with DOUBLE BACK dangerous

THIRD RACE—5-16 MILE
DAFFY ROLL—BIG BOSTON—ROY RED

1	Daffy Roll	5-1	63½	F. B. Sluis
2	Big Boston	4-1	60	Geo. Brown, Jr.
3	Roy Red	8-1	67½	H. Bryant
4	Bright Rulind	5-1	67	Tom Cook
5	By Gracious	5-1	63	Ernest Rhine
6	Mr. Tickler	6-1	66	M. J. Gavan
7	Nairus	8-1	51	Parbo Spencer
8	Craig's Pal	8-1	63	M. T. Dubiel

DAFFY ROLL has been on the improve in recent races and figures best of this bunch though BIG BOSTON could take it on a BOSTON rules a prize chapter.

FOURTH RACE—FUTURITY
JIM GLENN—JIMMY STAFFORD—JOE JUDGE

8	Jim Glenn	5-1	67½	Highhouse
1	J. Stafford	4-1	64½	L. Kirkpatrick
7	Joe Judge	3-1	60	Art Wilson
5	Chuck Andrew	5-1	66	Ernest Rhine
3	Tex. Ramsdee	5-1	60	M. T. Dubiel
2	Montclair Boy	6-1	62	Pat Gavan
6	Judy's Glide	6-1	73	Frank Lane
4	Darring	8-1	67	W. L. Bryant

JIM GLENN if he breaks seems a certain winner here with JIMMY STAFFORD a threat. JOE JUDGE has foot enough to [illegible]

FIFTH RACE—5-16 MILE
VANILLA—BROWN STRING—MEDULLA

1	Vanilla	4-1	56 Ernest Rhine
2	Brown String	4-1	63 Clyde Kent
3	Medulla	4-1	70 K. Stephenson
4	Raiese	5-1	63 Tom Baird
5	Lucky K.	6-1	64½ J. Highhouse
6	Sleepy Gmer	8-1	65 Parbo Spencer
7	Traffic Tramp	8-1	63 G. H. Rogers
8	War Danger	6-1	64 O. Wahlauf

VANILLA showed a fine three eighths since the last race and should win here with BROWN STRING and MEDULLA in a tight fit

SIXTH RACE—1-4 MILE
KNACK PEGGY ACTOR GREYSTICK

8	Knack	5-1	63 Frank Lane
1	Peggy Actor	4-1	49 Fred Paterson
2	Greystick	4-1	64 M. C. Sparks
3	Wiswall	5-1	68 H. Bryant
4	Loves Why	5-1	62 Parbo Spencer
5	First Officer	6-1	59 O. Wahlauf
6	Vigorous Girl	8-1	56 C. A. Rhodes
7	Red Davis	8-1	58 O. Wahlauf

KNACK is fast at this distance and a duddy and off it should reverse the tables on PEGGY ACTOR. GREYSTICK will be dangerous.

SEVENTH RACE—5-16 MILE
GILBY'S GIN—MR. RAY—JUST 4 GO BY

2	Gilby's Gin	3-1	64 Jack Adams
3	Mr. Ray	4-1	59 L. Kirkpatrick
4	Just 4 Go By	8-1	71 Fred Street
6	My House Boy	8-1	61 Tom Baird
7	Win Court	6-1	67 J. Williams
1	My Jane	6-1	58 F. Harmon
5	Mary Clark	6-1	55 M. T. Dubiel
8	Sweating P.	8-1	63 K. Stephenson

GILBY'S GIN has been lowered here and figures with MR. RAY not far off. JUST 4 GO BY could take the whole pot

EIGHTH RACE—5-16 MILE
KICK QUESTS—HANDSOME PAT—FLUFFY

5	Kick Quests	3-1	66	O. Wahlauf
6	Handsome Pat	4-1	57	O & B Kennel
7	Fluffy	4-1	59	K. Stephenson
8	Shag Town	8-1	60	Pat Gavan
4	Lucky's Lucky	6-1	62	Paul Rooney
3	Tom. Tucker	8-1	64	F. H. Rogers
1	Mr. E. N. T.	10-1	66	Cedar Pt., Kns.
2	Bright Hope	5-1	59	K. Stephenson

KICK QUESTS is best of this lot and should be an easy winner with HANDSOME PAT in the runner up role. FLUFFY is a ways a dangerous dog.

NINTH RACE—5-16 MILE
ARMY BANNER—CAVALIER CARESS—MISS BAILEY

2	Army Banner	4-1	64	J. R. Hatan
7	Cavaner C.	4-1	65	C. A. Rhodes
1	Miss Bailey	4-1	59	O & B Kennel
3	Lucky Tom	8-1	63½	H. Rogers
5	Treaty Traf.	8-1	52	F. L. Brunis
4	Boob	6-1	59	H. Bryant
6	Relay	8-1	62	Fred Peterson
8	Mr. Hicks	8-1	65½	J. Highhouse

ARMY BANNER needs only to break to win all the way, should CAVALIER CARESS barge out then its home free, MISS BAILEY a wage a threat.

TENTH RACE—5-16 MILE
ROBERT RIPLEY—SO LUCKY—PERFECT'S CAREER

2	Robert Ripley	3-1	68	W. L. Bryant
4	So Lucky	4-1	50	Ben Neal, Jr.
3	Perfect Career	4-1	67	Pat Conway
1	Temporary	5-1	64	F. B. Sluis
7	Nancy Red	5-1	72	Geo. Deragon
5	Proud Boy	6-1	66	K. Stephenson
8	Miss Hicks	8-1	64	J. Highhouse
6	Dusty War	8-1	62	Fred Street

ROBERT RIPLEY has the class here and should score handily. SO LUCKY could go off on top and score with PERFECTLESS CAREER a money possibility.

CASEY STENGEL was fortunate to have an experienced, brilliant fielding shortstop like "Rabbit" Warstler to take Eddie Miller's place when the latter suffered a fractured leg in a crash with Al Simmons. It is always difficult to secure a suitable shortstop, and this is especially true when one is obliged to get a man who will look good compared with the sensational Miller.

Warstler experienced considerable trouble with his throwing arm this Spring, but this condition has been eliminated. The "Rabbit" may be expected to give a good account of himself in the field, and feature in many double plays with Tony Cuccinello and Buddy Hassett.

The Bees have possessed their great power through the middle of their club, and that is where they have been hit the hardest this year. First the pitchers didn't come up to expectations in the early stages of the pennant fight. Then Tony Cuccinello was put out of the game with an injured knee following a crash with Dick Bartell at second base.

The Bees did not do so well with Cuccinello out of the game as they had earlier in the season. Once Tony got back into the lineup the club resumed its victory drive.

Casey Stengel has been particularly pleased with the return to form of his pitchers.

The team has also been hitting. Miller had picked up considerably in his batting, and was knocking in his share of runs. In the field, Eddie was sensational, and lived up to the predictions made about him during the Spring training.

The doctors say Miller's injury will keep him out of the game for two months. This means it will not be until the closing days of the National League pennant race that Miller can possibly get back into action. This virtually deprives the Bees of the services of Miller for the season. It is unlikely that Stengel would care to risk further disaster by placing Miller in the lineup before next year.

Youth Will Help Miller Recover Fully

MILLER IS only 22 years old, and this fact will be of tremendous importance in his recovery. Youth can overcome bone injuries as well as everything else.

"Rabbit" Maranville suffered a broken leg during the closing days of his baseball career. Maranville never did fully recover from his injury, and it hastened his passing from the big leagues as an active player. Such is usually the case when a player receives a broken leg when past 30 years of age.

"Miller's injury was a frightful blow to our club," said Casey Stengel, "but we are fortunate to have a player as capable as 'Rabbit' Warstler to take his place. One has to take the bad with the good breaks in baseball, and keep fighting.

"Our pitchers are going fine, while our batting has improved. We're not licked yet, and any National League club that thinks we are is going to receive a rude awakening."

That's the old Stengel spirit. It's the spirit that enabled the Bees to look so gloriously against the Giants, Cards and Reds.

As some football coach once remarked:

"A team that won't be beaten cannot be beaten."

We'll keep rooting for you, Case, and so will Boston and New England fans.

Importance of Pitchers

YOU GOT AN idea of the importance of good pitching when the Red Sox won a double-header from Detroit on Sunday. Old Mose Grove pitched bang-up ball to win the first game, while Dennis Galehouse held the Tigers to four hits to take the second tilt. In the second game, the Sox only got three hits, but won because they took advantage of their opponent's errors and got great pitching from Galehouse.

Looks as if Tom Yawkey is finally cashing in on his acquisition of Galehouse.

Running Races

I don't agree with everything A. A. U. officials do, but I believe Dan Ferris of the New York unit was 100 per cent right in condemning the recent race between Glenn Cunningham and the Rideout twins that was held before a night ball game in Brooklyn. Baseball is a professional sport, and amateur athletes should not be used to build up the take at the box office.

Horsemen Spend $500,000

You may be interested to know that the horsemen at Suffolk Downs have spent $500,000 during the present meeting. Of this amount $70,000 went to the grain man. The rest went for clothing, food, hotels and general good living.

The records of the horsemen's bank at the track show that they do not take away more money than they originally brought here. There are some horsemen who have to borrow money to get their stables to the next track.

Random Shots at Target

TOM THORP AND Billy Almy will be in the stewards' stand when Rockingham Park opens on next Monday . . . Baseball attendance figures continue to soar as the Red Sox make their mad pennant dash through the West . . . The Sox will play to capacity crowds when they return to Fenway Park if they can continue their drive for first place.

TAUTOG MOVE IN LOCALLY

By DARK MONTREAL

Jack Rigby and Tom Halpin had fair fishing at Long Pond last week-end but no salmon and only one good rainbow trout . . . "The Trailer Lady" —encamped at the north end of Long Pond—as she was last year—is fishing the west end—as she was last year—and catching dandy salmon—as she was last year.

And some male anglers are "crowding" in on her location. Just as they were last year . . . Walter Cunnard, of Foxboro, took a 4½ pound small mouth bass in Fawn Pond, on a meadow frog.

The tautog have finally moved in on the shoals in Massachusetts Bay in fair numbers. The week-end saw the first of the good fishing at Wellfleet and at Manomet Point.

"Doc" Colson and Harry Packard set their usual fast pace at Manomet Point—they've missed few fishing-season Sundays in the past 15 years—and brought some nice white-chops into Al Tripp's boat station.

Best of their fish were taken at the inside Mary-Ann rock on the early flooding tide, on sea worms. Eggie Thurston and I boated 14 tautog, best fish a little over five pounds. These were taken at North Rock and Saddle Rock, also on worms.

Outside of Ben Crowinshield's third tuna, the weekend developed little in the way of big game fishing. Nearly all the boats in Ipswich Bay reportd sighting "hundrds" of the big blue fins, and several were hooked and lost. Paul Wadleigh, on Betty 2d, Paul & Bauer's cruiser, hooked and lost one fish.

The group aboard, including Vernon Childs, Basil Hamel, William R. Yundt and Joe Warner sighted many tuna surfacing and milling on the dragger grounds but the big boys weren't taking.

Ed Merrill, of Winchester, with a group of friends aboard "Hunker" Cole's party boat, had the fastest pollock fishing of the season off Plum Island jetty. The fish averaging 15-18 pounds were smashing the lures viciously. At the height of the fishing, Cole got a lure hook jammed into a thumb and, as he said himself, his thumb was so calloused the barb could not be pushed through to be snipped off.

Cole was all for fishing the rest of the day with the lure hanging from his finger but the party wouldn't hear about it and headed for shore and a doctor.

Merrill said the pollock—(strange they're still surfacing)—were hitting plastic lures—best luck with a green one—that zigged, dived and jumped naturally because of a front rudder.

The striped bass are almost everywhere but not hitting the same day at the same time and seldom twice in succession on the same lure . . . Last Tuesday was a great day in North River and the fishing has been slow since but the fish are still there . . .

* * *

The Duxbury Yacht Club boys hit into a lot of 6 and 7-pounders over the week end for their best fishing of the season. The fish have been around a long time but not on the feed for the offerings of the anglers . . . Wellfleet Harbor is full of stripers, too, but it's a trick to make them "take." However, the glut of small bait fish is about over and better angling lies ahead.

YAROSZ WHIPS GAINER

PITTSBURGH, July 18 (AP)—Teddy Yarosz, 168, Monaca, Pa., former middleweight champion, battled his way to a decision over Al Gainer, 168½, New Haven, Conn., Negro, in a feature 10-round boxing bout at Forbes Field.

Cronin Back to Start Sox on New Streak

CHICAGO, July 18—The streak is over, but the memory lingers on. And the Red Sox find the recollections so pleasant that they're determined to start another surge at the expense of the third-place White Sox in the doubleheader opener of a five-game series out at Comiskey Park this very afternoon.

If they can succeed that quickly it will stamp them as an outstanding ball club. Your average outfit invariably suffers a marked let-down and goes into a tail spin, lasting several days after having a long win string snapped.

Joe Cronin

Off the field, it must be admitted, the Fenway Favorites appear to be in the proper mental mood to start galloping off over again immediately.

They profess to look upon the 13-6 shellacking in Detroit, which ended their 12 victory spurt, as nothing more than another defeat, something that's bound to happen to every club now and then.

True, they are slightly nettled over their failure to win one more and set an all-time Red Sox record for consecutive triumphs and, frankly, it galls them no little that it had to fall to the lot of ex-mate Louis "Gabbling Buck" Newsom to stop them and on an afternoon when the pace-setting Yanks were winning.

READY TO GO AGAIN

But, to a man, they insist that not later than this P. M. they'll prove the setback has affected neither their morale or their play.

Yet, nobody can be sure about it until they get out there on the diamond and try to make good their boast.

Looking at them Sunday you'd have sworn they could keep on winning indefinitely.

One day later, the strain had caught up with them to such an extent that they not only lost their first game in 13 starts but were showing signs of cracking before it was over. The Tigers scored five unearned runs in the seventh, for example.

At the same time, it may turn out to have been to the advantage of our heroes to let down their guard a bit and take a real old fashioned pasting. It's usually much easier to recover from a decisive licking than it is to get over the effects of a close, heart-breaking defeat.

Anyway, for better or worse, the lads start from scratch again today. Before leaving them there, though, a word about Boss Joseph Edward Cronin.

During none of his super-brilliant performances, which were almost daily features of the surge, was the importance of the Fenway foreman to the success of the club as apparent as it was in yesterday's defeat.

The Hose started off with a bang, going two runs in front when Terrific Teddy Williams parked his 14th home run into the upper tier of the right field stands, after Jim Foxx had singled in the first frame.

In the second, Cronin met with a mishap.

Former Fenwayite Mike Higgins tripped rounding second on a Greenberg single. Joe, grabbing Cramer's throw and thinking "Pinky" was on his way to third, turned to peg to Tabor. Just at that instant he was struck full force by the Tiger, racing back to the keystone sack. Gamely he held the ball tightly to complete the putout. But the force of the collision knocked him to the ground with his wind gone, his lip cut and his nose bleeding.

As his mates gathered around him stretched out there on the grass you could see their spirits droop. And from way up high in the press coop you could read in their minds the conviction that they'd be doomed if their pilot couldn't stay in there to spark them.

With his characteristic courage Joe did stay in there through the sixth inning despite being close to a hospital case. But suffering from pain and dizziness, he could do no more than go through the motions.

Gone was the Cronin who had been furnishing game-winning hits and stops. Gone was the leader who had been driving and inspiring his pitchers, fielders and hitters to perform miracles.

And the Sox went with him.

Never thereafter were they able to seriously annoy Newsom, meanwhile the Tigers, among other things, scored six runs in the third and five in the seventh and finished up with a 15 hit total which included two successive home runs by Earl Averill and another round tripper by "Birdie" Tebbetts, the second of his big league career.

CRONIN SPARKPLUG

No baby ever needed its mother more than the Red Sox need Cronin. They're just another ball club when Joe isn't functioning at his best. The skipper's face was still very sore after the game, but he vowed he'd be on the job as usual today.

What pained him far more than the injury or even the defeat yesterday was the failure of Woody Rich, who started on the mound.

The Little Rock rookie appeared to have regained his sparkling early spring form in his relief appearance against the Indians last Thursday night, but his showing yesterday, when he failed to last three innings, indicated that he hasn't fully recovered from the arm injury he sustained late in May.

Lou Nova Next Heavy Champion, Says Lou Nova

OAKLAND, Cal., July 18 (INS)—The next heavyweight champion of the world will be Lou Nova, Alameda's ex-footballer. He will beat Tony Galento in October, Max Schmeling next spring and Joe Louis next summer.

Authority for this statement is Lou Nova, who passed through Oakland today on his way to Los Angeles to visit his three-months-old baby.

"I wanted Lou's this fall," Nova explained, "but they wouldn't let him fight me. Maybe it's just as well—for Louis.

"I'd like to fight about six times a year to keep my hand in, but Ray Carlen (Nova's manager) doesn't want to take any chances when we're this close to the championship."

BARNSTABLE WINS

BARNSTABLE, July 18—Barnstable ended its losing streak of twelve games at the expense of Bourne here, Zaminsky pitching a five-hit shut-out.

Eddie Miller Out For Rest of Season | Lombardi's Loss Blow to Redlegs

By BILL GRIMES

Anytime that a 12-game winning streak is severed by a 13 to 6 defeat, the victims have a tough time convincing even their closest relatives that they weren't signed, sealed and delivered before the start of the contest.

And, for that reason, the Red Sox were expected to spring right back and take two from the White Sox today in Chicago . . . If they had been edged out by a run by the Tigers yesterday, the Connie Mack combination would not be in a winning frame of mind when they went into action against Jimmy Dykes' charges.

Jimmy Dykes

Without showing any pronounced efforts of bearing down, "Bucky" Walters toyed with the Bees yesterday . . . He was the master of all situations, allowing the Stengeleers four hits, and no runs . . . Mike Kelly had a soft day . . . Not a Bee reached third base and only two got as far as the keystone sack . . . Rabbit Warstler kicked one in the clutch which paved the way for the Reds to score three runs in the 8th . . .

That miscue looked bad but it didn't mean a thing in view of the fact that the McKechniemen scored one run in the opening stanza, which would have been sufficient to give them the verdict.

MILLER OUT FOR SEASON

According to Dr. Edward J. O'Brien, Eddie Miller is through for the season . . . Al Simmons will be out of the Bees' lineup for a few days . . . With Miller out, the Bees are short of infield replacements . . .

Tom Bilodeau, the former Harvard all around athlete, who is the playing manager of the St. Johnsbury Senators, is the pride of Eastern Vermont . . . He's doing a fine job as manager and has been hitting well, and long, in the pinches.

Grover Hartley, the former Red Sox catcher, is now owner, manager-grounds keeper of the Finlay Club of the Ohio State League . . . The Reds suffered a real loss yesterday when Ernie Lombardi split a finger while catching a pop up off Tony Cuccinello's bat . . . Just why Bill Werber didn't take the ball is a mystery . . .

Buck Newsom is the most popular player on the Tigers' roster in Detroit . . . He's now known as "Bo-Bo" . . . He's the pride of the Motor City, after beating the Red Sox . . .

One week from Sunday—July 30, at Burr's Hill Park down in South Warren, R. I. a benefit game will be played for Donat Brochu, who lost an eye while playing for Providence College against Boston College at University Heights last spring . . . Brochu, who was a major league prospect is through as a ball player . . . He has been chosen honorary captain of the 1940 Friars nine . . .

He's through with the diamond game and because of the injury he suffered he has been obliged to pass up an opportunity to work at a resort this summer . . . Followers of college baseball, who wish to contribute to a worthy cause, can help Donat Brochu by purchasing tickets for his benefit game . . .

The Newton Y. M. C. A. will stage its sixth annual track meet next Saturday . . . More than 100 competitors have entred in the track and field events . . .

Pres. C. Campbell Patterson, of the Massachusetts Golf Association, announces that Teddy Adams, the 35th amateur champion of the state, is now a 2 handicap man . . . He was the proud possessor of a 5 handicap card going into the Tedesco test.

Ray Marad

Ray Marad of George Wright, who was the unsuccessful finalist, has been cut from 7 to 5 and Franklin T. Pfaelzer had a stroke chopped off his 5 handicap

. . . I wouldn't say that "Bo" Brawley's West Roxbury team of the Boston College Alumni Softball League was exactly a flop . . . If "Bo" takes his annual vacation, I'd say that West Roxbury has a chance of copping the pennant . . . If he insists upon posing as a "master mind," Arlington has a chance of getting out of last place . . .

According to Johnny Corcoran, the third annual Northeastern Pro-Amateur championship, scheduled for Sunday, Monday at the Poland Spring Golf Club, Maine, will attract a record breaking field of 300 . . . It will be a Metropolitan Style 36 hole medal play affair, sponsored by the N. E. P. G. A. but open to any professional with at least one partner.

Pros are privileged to play with as many amateurs as they want and their helpmates need not be members of the same clubs . . . Write Tom White, pro, Poland Spring, Me., for information and starting times . . . Entry fees for pros is $3.00 and for amateurs $2.00 . . . And, there will be four ball and two ball events . . .

Dr. Stanley Yudicky, a former Dartmouth football captain and one of the greatest ends ever to wear the Green, has been appointed medical attendant at Rockingham Park . . . Dr. Yudicky will enter the Mayo Institute at Rochester, Minn. this fall . . .

Wilmeth Sidat-Singh, whose sensational forward passes accounted for virtually every touchdown made by Syracuse for two years will be a member of the Eastern College All-Star eleven which will play the New York Giants in the Polo Grounds, Sept. 7.

Frank Weston has challenged Lawson Little to a match at Bretton Woods, as soon as the former U. S. amateur champion returns to White Mountains . . . Why not have Jack Sanderson come down from Bretton Woods some Sunday and pitch for the Red Sox? . . . They'd name more than stars after Babe Ruth, if he would go through for some of the friends that help him up the ladder to fame.

Win Over Morris Gave Jack Title Bout With Jess Willard

By JACK DEMPSEY

Almost every kid knows the famous nursery tale of "Jack, the Giant Killer," and nearly every grown-up will recollect it, among his childhood thrills.

The universal popularity of that story may be one of the reasons why Jack Dempsey took such a tremendous hold on the popular imagination immediately after he became champion.

For Jack Dempsey won the championship by "killing" giants.

Dempsey said that the turning point of his career was the fight with Carl Morris, in Buffalo, in 1917. Carl Morris was a giant. He stood over six feet four in his stocking feet. The promoter at first refused to let the fight take place because of the disparity in size and weight. He was finally persuaded and Dempsey laid the giant low.

Jess Willard was even more a giant. Anybody who has ever seen him on the street knows that he was a giant in the literal Barnum circus style. His shoulders were higher than the heads of most big men. He towered over six and a half feet. He was a mountain of a man.

A NORMAL MAN

Jack Dempsey was, and is, a man of normal size. He is only a shade over six feet tall, and as champion weighed continually less than 200 pounds, sometimes as little as 190. And Jack says:

"My size was against me, because when I was coming on the best heavyweights were all big men, and people couldn't believe that a guy like me would have a chance.

"Before the Morris fight Doc Kearns and I were the only two people who thought I might ever be champion. After that fight there were two more who believed it right away, and they made a lot of noise about it.

"One was Charlie Murray, who wrote a sport column as well as promoted fights, and the other was Damon Runyon. Corbett was running a sport column, and he began boosting me, too.

"They paved the way for the big Toledo fight. They boosted me so strong that after we got in training I think they must have thrown a scare into the Willard camp, for pretty soon Willard and his crowd began to shoot out a line of stuff that seemed to me must have been cooked up to spoil my sleep.

"I had gotten a bad poke in the eye while training, and it had been bleeding a little at the time when somebody snapped me with a camera. Willard knew about that. And in his story, he said, if necessary, he was going to go after that eye, without mercy. Don't get the idea that I think Willard was a mean guy. This was all just smoke-screen stuff before the battle. When he did fight he fought as square a fight as any man living.

THE MEMORABLE FOURTH

"Before I started for the ringside I knew that they were betting two to one on Willard. It was a Fourth of July, as hot as the hinges of h—l. On the way to the ringside, in the sun, I saw a big, new, shiny automobile with a sign on it that read: 'This car against $500 that Willard wins.'

"Do you know, I don't remember much to this very day of what the place looked like—a big, flat, circle of wooden benches, yellow in the sun, and dotted with people, men with their coats off—and further back a canopy over where the women sat, and up above in the glare, a balloon and a couple of airplanes. I remember mostly how hot it was.

"The crowd was all for Willard, mostly all. I pretended not to look at him, but believe me, I saw him. And he looked fine, sitting under a big new brown umbrella. As I had was an old, dirty one, spattered over with soft drink advertisements. Well that was all right, he was the champion. He was getting $100,000, and I was getting $27,000.

"And right after that, there's another curious thing that I remember. I had my head ducked, sitting in my corner, pretending to notice nothing, but my eyes were slanted so that I could look at Willard a little bit and sort of take his measure. He was in good shape, and he looked even bigger to me than they said.

"He was solid. He had trained. But then I spied something. He had his hand on his stomach, natural enough, but all of a sudden he shifted and moved his hand—and I noticed that his stomach sagged the least little bit.

"It's small things like that you remember, if you're really going to tell the truth about it. And for the first time that day, I felt absolutely all right. It wouldn't be true to say that before it, I lacked confidence. But now I had the feeling that Mr. Willard was my meat.

"If you were there, you remember he landed the first blow, a left to the face. It didn't hurt. People have written a lot about my smash to his jaw that came a little later—a right cross, that knocked him down the first time. But that isn't the blow I remember the best. What I remember is the first one that landed solid on his body. He didn't fall, but he shook and sagged like a tree with the axe at its roots, and I knew I had him.

THE TOWEL OF DEFEAT

"After that it was just fight. I could knock him down, but my job was to make him stay down, and I forgot all about the world championship and the money and the crowd, and even Doc Kearns. I heard a kind of roaring, but it seemed a long way off, and it had nothing to do with me."

Willard failed to come out of his corner for the fourth round, and I was champion.

Jess tried to smile as I shook his hand after the bout.

"Well, it took me several days to get it through my head that I was champion of the world. Not through my head exactly, either. Of course, I knew it. But I didn't feel it. It came gradually from the different way everybody treated me. That's one of the greatest feelings in the world. You were nobody. And then you get to be somebody. And it seems like a sort of a miracle. And it's mighty sweet."

In tomorrow's Boston Evening American, Dempsey tells of his meetings with Presidents.

Haney to Keep Browns' Post

ST. LOUIS, July 18 (AP) — The St. Louis Browns have only 24 victories in 79 games, but Freshman Pilot Fred Haney still will be in the driver's seat when the 1940 season gets under way.

Pres. Don Barnes announced today he had signed Haney to a new contract in the presence of all the Brownie players—hopeful it might help the club through the rest of the season. It was reported Haney got a raise.

Despite a lot of new blood injected into the team, the Browns are deeply imbedded in the American League cellar, 33 games behind the leading New York Yankees.

Last week Haney attributed the club's poor record to "too much individualism" and suggested the remedy must be in giving players contracts graduated according to the success of the team.
